Branding is certainly not a light topic – whole publications & hundreds of books have been written on the topic, however to put it in a nutshell you could describe a 'brand' as an organisation, service or product with a 'personality' that is shaped by the perceptions of the audience. On that note, it should also be stated that a designer cannot "make" a brand – only the audience can do this. A designer forms the foundation of the brand.
Many people believe a brand only consists of a few elements – some colours, some fonts, a logo, a slogan and maybe some music added in too. In reality, it is much more complicated than that. You might say that a brand is a 'corporate image'.
